

Battered German Troops Unable To Hold Back The Reds

Soviets Keep Up Charge Beyond City of Rostov

MOSCOW, Dec. 1.—(P)—Severely battered German troops, hurled back through village after village in a retreat from Rostov that has become the biggest Nazi reversal of the Russian campaign, have been unable to stem the Red army's counter drive and are in danger of being cut off by a new thrust from the north, the Moscow radio declared today.

Quoting dispatches to Pravda from the southern front, the broadcast said the New Soviet thrust developed yesterday morning in the shell-pocked Donets basin northwest of Rostov, where the advance might open a corridor to the Sea of Azov which would cut off the hotly engaged German rear guard.

The report to Pravda declared hard riding Russian cavalrymen, first to carry the Red banner back into Rostov, kept up their charge for miles beyond the city and broke up repeated German attempts to form a new line.

Other Red army units, the Pravda correspondent reported, ousted the Germans from towns identified as "B" and "K", along with many other large and small villages, in a 14-mile advance over fields strewn with Nazi dead and littered with the abandoned wreckage of German tanks and guns.

Kept On Retreat
These advances, the Russians declared, hurled the Nazis back to Taganrog, 40 miles west of Rostov, then kept them on the retreat along the road to Mariupol, another 60 miles to the west.

(The British radio reported that the German commander in the so-called Field Marshal Ewald Von Kliest, had moved his headquarters back to Mariupol two days ago and now was on the move again farther to the rear.)

(CBS quoted the radio as saying that the second Russian counter drive was forcing axis troops in the Donets back toward industrial Stalino, 100 miles northwest of Rostov.)

Four Nazi divisions have been broken up, it was said, and the known German casualties in the southern fighting were put at 10,000.

Soviet troops operating northwest of Tula, in the fighting zone between that city and Moscow, 100 miles to the north, are driving the Germans back with counterattacks, a correspondent of the Moscow newspaper Pravda reported.

The correspondent added that Russian offensives on the Kalinin front 90 miles northwest of Moscow were growing more intense and the Germans were throwing in fresh forces in an attempt to halt the Soviets.

Russian accounts declared Red counter-strokes on the Moscow front recaptured 14 villages in the Stalingorsk sector, 120 miles southeast of Moscow and the point of the greatest advance eastward of the German encirclement threat against the Russian capital.

These accounts also said 20 villages were recaptured in another sector and the Germans were forced to give up the town of "K."

"(K)" was not identified but it could be the designation for Klin, 50 miles northwest of Moscow on the main Moscow-Leningrad railroad.)

That the Russian defense of Moscow had stiffened considerably was indicated by a government proclamation declaring "To retreat for more than one step is a crime none shall forgive."

(British tanks are playing a considerable role in the defense of the Red capital. British Minister of Supply Lord Beaverbrook told a meeting of Amalgamated

Six Worthless Checks Passed On Merchants

Couple Held In Jail Awaiting Facing Charges

William B. Daulley, and a woman who gives her name as Ida Yates Daulley, supposedly his wife, are being charged with uttering and passing forged checks in connection with the passing of six such checks on five local merchants Saturday evening and night. Prosecuting Attorney Job Harned said this afternoon the charges will be filed in the court of Judge C. W. Bente, sitting as ex-officio justice of the peace.

It was after they had passed a $23.38 check at the Hugie Cigar store the couple was arrested in the 200 block on East Third street, while preparing to drive off in their automobile.

Passed Six Checks
They refused to say how many checks they had passed when questioned Saturday night, but Sunday they said it was six and today the six checks were accounted for. The check at Hugie's, two at the Howard Roberts store, one for $23.38, the other for $17.38; Sam Aleskin's Outlet Store $17.38, Green Pastures, $17.38; and at Goldin's for $23.38.

Sunday Chief of Police H. "Zone" Anderson and Officer Lawrence Pauley motored to Jefferson City and obtained clothing, a radio and two dogs belonging to the couple which were in a cabin at a tourist camp near the capital city.

Similar Fraud at Joplin
Today a report was received the couple had "floated" twenty-one checks of similar nature at Joplin. One check was sent to the local police through the highway patrol. It was written on the Joplin National Bank and Trust Co., made out to William B. Daulley and signed by A. V. Habbert. The check was a "pay roll check on the Habbert and Co., of Joplin," while in Sedalia they were the same only made out on Sedalia Bank and Trust Co., checks and the company was supposed to be in Sedalia.

Still Try To Mediate Dispute

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(P)—President Roosevelt's special fact finding board continued sessions today in efforts to mediate the threatened strike of 350,000 railway operating employees after a marathon session of nearly 23 hours brought no results.

The board members made no comment as they went back together after about a three-hour recess. As they broke up their day and night meeting earlier Chairman Wayne L. Morse said he was "not so hopeful as I was."

During the night Morse had indicated he believed progress was being made toward averting the strike but when the board recessed at 8:25 a. m., he declared:

"The situation hasn't looked so good for the last three hours as it did earlier in the evening."

"There appears no change of getting any report to the president until late this afternoon or tonight," Morse added. "If I think there is still hope of reaching a settlement in another night I am authorized to keep the parties in session."

Turkeys Stolen From Paul Farm

John Paul R. F. D. No. 1 reported to the police this morning that sometime Sunday night thieves visited his farm and stole twenty-five bronze turkey hens and one large gobbler. Police are making a check of poultry houses to determine if they had been sold in Sedalia.

The highway patrol was also notified of the theft.

Goering And Petain Hold A Meeting Today

Wide Range of Subjects Be Up For A Discussion

VICHY, Unoccupied France, Dec. 1.—(P)—Marshall Petain and Reichsmarshal Goering met today at St. Florentin in the department of Yonne, 80 miles southeast of Paris, and had a "long conversation on questions interesting to Germany and France," the Vichy government announced tonight.

The announcement was made by Fernand De Brinon, Vichy ambassador to Paris, who had returned from the scene of the conference.

Petain and Vice Premier Darlan left Vichy last night for the occupied zone without knowing their exact destination.

Authorized sources had said the journey was comparable to the marshal's trip 13 months ago to Montoire where he met Adolf Hitler and agreed upon a policy of collaboration with France's conqueror.

The marshal was said to have been unaware of his exact destination as his train moved away under sealed orders last night. Authorized quarters said the trip might also be compared to Admiral Darlan's journey last May to Berchtesgaden where he also saw Hitler.

The official announcement of the departure of the aged chief of state and his chief aid said they probably would return tonight or tomorrow.

(Apparently the train was taking them somewhere into eastern France, instead of Orleans, 70 miles southeast of Paris, where it was earlier reported a Petain-Hitler conference was to take place. Dijon is 150 miles south-east of Paris.)

The marshal and vice-premier were accompanied by Major Bonhomme, and Commander Fontaine, their respective aides, Bernard Menetrel, the marshal's confidential secretary, and an interpreter.

Cover Wide Range
The interview Petain is to have will cover a wide range of subjects, including North Africa, it was reported without confirmation.

The authoritative Teledario agency said "today" meeting is with the desire of both Germany and France for a more marked reciprocal understanding."

Fire Damages Two Residences

The fire companies answered two calls Sunday night, bringing the total for the year to 265. Damage of $550 to the residence and $50 to furnishings resulted to the home of Mrs. Anna Laukenau, 616 North Grand avenue, at 7:46 o'clock.

Fire starting from an undetermined cause was confined to the back part of the house in a kitchen and the back part of the roof. The fire had gained considerable headway when it was discovered and it was necessary to lay a line of hose to battle the flames.

Insurance was carried to cover part of the loss.

While fighting this fire an alarm was received to the residence of J. W. Leftwich, 1811 South Lamine avenue. A hole had been burned through the front porch and into the basement.

The cause of the fire was undetermined and the damage was slight.

Gain Million In Population

Increase In The Birth Rate For The Year of 1941

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(P)—The babies—God bless 'em—got a nice pat on the back today from the census bureau for contributing the most toward A. U. S. population gain of more than a million in twelve months.

Blessed events in the year ending April 1 were approximately 183,000 more than the average year of the past decade, the bureau reported. Mainly because of this, the nation's estimated population climbed from 131,669,275 on April 1, 1940, to 132,818,005. There were 85,486 more immigrants than emigrants, and that helped, too.

The population increase during the year was 1,148,730, considerably more than the 889,000 average between 1930 and 1940.

The excess of births over deaths in the 12 month period, the bureau said, was approximately 169,000 more than the ten year average. It gave two reasons: these were more women in the 20 to 44 year age group, who have most of the babies, and there was a 20 per cent increase in the number of marriages.

"Sufficient data are not yet available," the bureau report continued, "to determine whether there has been a rise in fertility from any other cases. It would be unsafe to say that the recent acceleration of population growth in the United States was more than a temporary reversal of the long established decline in our rate of increase, because two of the major causes—more net immigration and a higher marriage rate—are probably not going to continue."

In this connection it noted that in the preceding 10 years there was a slight net emigration from the United States, and March again showed a net emigration—4,791.

Pettis County Supports Self

One of Twenty-four In State Holding That Status

Pettis county is one of twenty-four of 114 counties in the state of Missouri that is self-supporting, according to a story in Sunday's Globe-Democrat, written by Hume B. Duval, which story was accompanied by a picture of those counties in the state, setting out those counties that are self-supporting. Fifteen of the counties are hopelessly bankrupt, he states.

Survey Was Made

The article includes the following paragraphs:
"The St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, in 1939, made public the results of a survey which revealed that only 24 of the 114 counties and the City of St. Louis were self-supporting. The remaining 90 counties received in direct allotments from the state more money than they paid to the state in taxes for all purposes. In 1931 there were 50 counties, which, according to this survey, were not self-supporting. The number grew to 82 in 1936 and to 90 a year later."

"These counties," the survey stated, "not only contributed nothing to the maintenance of the state government, but also required additional assistance from the state, which, in turn, obtained its funds from 25 counties."

"The counties listed by the Chamber of Commerce as self-supporting were: Atchison, Nodaway, Holt, Buchanan, Platte, Clay, Jackson (Kansas City), Lafayette, Pettis, Jasper, Greene, Adair, Randolph, Audrain, Boone, Cole, Marion, St. Charles, St. Louis, Franklin, Jefferson, St. Francois, St. Genevieve, Cape Girardeau and the City of St. Louis which, for the purposes of comparison, was treated as an individual county."

"An examination of this list shows that it includes for the most part those Missouri counties which have a large or substantial urban population, or which have industrial developments and activities to help boost the tax payments. It does not include many of the rich agricultural counties along the river and the Iowa line, the heavily populated cotton-growing section of southeast Missouri or the sparsely settled wooded areas of the Ozarks."

U. S. Army and Navy Forces Put On Alert

Bases Are Being Created On Island Stepping Stones

MANILA, Dec. 1.—(P)—United States army and naval forces in the Philippines were held in readiness for any emergency today as war fears in the Far East were fed by the arrival of fresh British reinforcements in Burma, intense military preparations in Thailand and reports that the Japanese were pouring additional troops into neighboring French Indo-China.

Belief grew here that the Japanese might strike at any moment at Thailand in an effort to cut the Burma Road supplying China, whose defenses soon will be strengthened by an all-American air unit composed of American made planes flown under the Chinese flag.

Both the Japanese press and radio declared yesterday that establishment of such a patrol would be "an example of the most provocative armed aggression."

Leaves Are Cancelled

The serious view of the situation taken by United States officials in the Philippines was reflected in orders cancelling all leaves from Corregidor, island fortress guarding Manila bay, and enforcing nightly blackouts at the naval bases of Cavite and Olongapo. Many officers on leave were reported recalled to duty.

In Shanghai, the United States consulate again advised American citizens to go home as speedily as possible. Americans in Thailand also were warned to be ready to leave.

In Hongkong, all British troops were called back to barracks, navy men were ordered to stand by and the military command announced that the Crown colony was "in an advanced state of preparedness" following a three-day defense test.

(A Reuters dispatch from Singapore said a state of emergency has been proclaimed there and that all volunteers in the Singapore naval reserve and the Malay volunteer air force had been mobilized.)

A large contingent of seasoned British and Indian troops—many veterans of fighting in other theaters of war—landed at Rangoon, Burma, during the week-end and were taking up positions along the 1,700-mile front which Britain

President Back To Capital Due To The Crisis

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(P)—Japan's envoys talked for more than an hour with Secretary of State Hull today but brought no reply from their government to the document handed them last week restating and clarifying the American position in the Far Eastern crisis.

It was learned that today's conversation concerned only subordinate phases of the situation, and that no further discussion has been arranged so far.

Ambassador Kichisaburo Nomura looked grave when he and the special envoy, Saburo Kurusu, emerged from Hull's office. When a reporter asked him whether there still was a wide gap between the American and Japanese position, he replied:

"I believe there must be wise statesmanship to save the situation."

Kurusu, when asked whether he and Nomura planned to see Hull again, said:

"Yes, we are instructed to that effect by our government."

President Returns

While the Japanese and Hull were conferring, President Roosevelt returned to the capital from Warm Springs, Ga., having cut short a belated Thanksgiving holiday to be on hand for developments in the Far Eastern crisis. He arranged to see Hull soon after the Japanese left the state department.

Kurusu said in response to questions that he and Nomura had merely gone over again various angles of their previous talks with Hull.

Later, state department officials said that the Japanese reply to the document Hull handed them last week had not yet arrived but is expected soon. In the meantime, these officials said, Hull and the Japanese today discussed some subordinate phases of the matter pending. They added that no further discussion has been arranged so far.

Kurusu told newspapermen that he and Nomura brought no final answer to the document handed them last Wednesday by Hull restating and clarifying the United States attitude toward Far Eastern questions.

Believes Tojo Misquoted

When asked about Premier Hideki Tojo's reported statement that East Asia must be "purged" of British and American interference, Kurusu said he thought Tojo had been "badly misquoted" in news dispatches.

Kurusu did not detail the particulars in which he thought Tojo had been misquoted.

To questions bearing on reported Japanese preparations to invade Thailand, Kurusu replied non-committally that he knew nothing about that.

Questioners sought to determine whether today's visit was for the purpose of obtaining further clarifications of certain points in the American position as outlined in Hull's document.

"Better ask Mr. Hull," Kurusu replied.

Cables from the Far East gave a grim background to this conference and to the consultation arranged between Mr. Roosevelt and Secretary Hull shortly after the arrival of the presidential train.

Foremost was the declaration of Premier Hideki Tojo Saturday that Japan "must muprge" American and British influence "from East Asia with a vengeance." Last night the Tokyo radio broadcast the words of Vice Admiral Shigeichi Koga, commander of the Japanese fleet in China waters, who was quoted as saying that "The China affair has now become part of the world war as a result of the so called ABCD (American

WASHINGTON—It hasn't leaked outside the cabinet yet, but some of Mr. Roosevelt's cabinet members are putting up a fight against the Navy for commandeering the one lone trans-Atlantic plane which seeks to rival Pan American Airways.

For years Pan American Airways has had a 100 percent monopoly on all foreign air routes from the United States. But last year the State Department, Post Office and Civil Aeronautics Board, agreeing that competition was the chief basis of the American system, granted American Export Lines a license to fly the Atlantic.

But now that American Export had just about completed building its first plane, a giant Sikorsky PBY, the Navy has grabbed it. Meanwhile it has left untouched the 160 airplanes in the possession of Pan American Airways.

Most interesting thing about the Navy's grab is that the Navy's assistant secretary for air is Artemus Gates, formerly director of Pan American Airways. Also one of the Navy's key officers in charge of long distance flying is Lt. Commander C. H. Shildauer, who for seven or eight years handled Pan American Airways operations in the Pacific.

Some of Secretary Knox's cabinet colleagues have remonstrated with him that it looked very bad for the Navy to be seizing the property of Pan American Airways' rival when a former director of Pan American Airways was in charge of the seizure. Knox replied that he was convinced that Gates, who was president of the New York Trust company, would be absolutely fair in the matter.

However, Postmaster General Walker, Secretary of State Hull, and Secretary Ickes all feel that the Navy has been unfair in taking the one airplane of American Export and leaving untouched the 160 planes of Pan American.

Pan Am Digs In
This incident has brought to the fore once again the manner in which the war emergency has entrenched monopoly in overseas air routes more than ever instead of getting back to the American principle of competition.

Another monopoly question which also has caused sparks to fly inside the cabinet is concerned with the Aluminum Corporation and the defense plants it is building for the government. Although RFCzar Jesse Jones' handling of these contracts has been criticized, it remains a fact that the plants he is financing remain the absolute property of the U. S. government.

However, Pan American Airways is now receiving $12,000,000 from the U. S. A. for building new or larger airports in Latin America. And when it finishes spending the government's $12,000,000, the new and improved airports will belong not to the government but in many cases to Pan American Airways. For Pan American owns many of the airports and is taking steps to secure a complete monopoly over others.

In Guatemala, for instance, the Pan Am representatives called on President Ubico some time ago and proposed improving Guatemala's chief airport, but on the basis that Pan American should be given exclusive rights to use it, and no other foreign company should come in for approximately 25 years.

To which President Ubico replied that he was well aware the U. S. War Department was putting up the money for these improvements and Pan American Airways would get no exclusive rights.

In addition to the $12,000,000 for Latin America, Pan Am is getting a reputed $20,000,000 for developing new airports in Africa, and so far no safeguards have been set up to prevent these bases from becoming a monopoly.

Nazi Airlines In Brazil

Latest trouble which the State Department has had with Pan American Airways is in Brazil, where for several years U. S. strategists have been worried over four axis airlines operating there. These lines are:

1. The Italian Lati, which operates from Africa to Brazil and is the only regular connection between the axis countries and Latin America.

2. Three German lines, Condor, Vasp and Varig which operate all over Brazil, including the vast jungle areas where all sorts of military activity could be carried out by airplanes without the knowledge of U. S. observers.

Brazil has been willing to oust the Germans, but has asked that substitute U. S. Brazilian airlines first be organized to take their place. So the State Department worked out an agreement by which Brazil would organize companies with American help and with funds from the RFC. To this end, the RFC has sent two representatives to Brazil, William Burden and William B. Harding, to make plans.

In each case, however, Juan Trippe, head of Pan Am and brother-in-law of Ed Stettinius, has used his persuasive influence on the RFC representatives. His argument was that he didn't want strong Brazilian lines built up out of the three German lines which would compete with his own local company, the PanAir do Brazil.

The Nazi lines still are flying over the vast areas of Brazil, even at a time when the U. S. Army is so worried over this section of the world that it has moved troops into Dutch Guiana.

Politicians Will Defend New Orleans

T. Semmes Walmsley, ex-mayor of New Orleans and foe of the Huey Long machine, is now serving as deputy director of civilian defense, under Mayor LaGuardia. He has this to say about the defense of New Orleans:

"Nobody can defend that town! A couple of bombs would knock out the levees, and the city would be submerged with water. As for dig-outs, as soon as you start digging a hole in the ground, it fills up with water.

"BUT—if Hitler ever does come over, we've got some politicians who would steal his last pennies and leave him without even a swastika!"

War Splinters

This column recently revealed intelligence reports of disrupted rail conditions in Germany, making it difficult to distribute the badly needed potato crop. This situation is getting worse. Eighty percent of the potato crop has been harvested by November 1 but is still stymied. The remaining 20 percent, unharvested, is in danger of being lost for lack of farm hands. Rocket-propelled shells may soon give allied artillery longer and deadlier fire power. The British have conducted successful experiments with them, particularly from airplane cannon. Recently certain politicians noisily let off steam because of the removal of national guard and reserve officers found unfit to hold their commands. It was charged that they were being discriminated against in favor of "regulars." Yet a national guard officer is rated by the general staff as one of the top divisional commanders in the army. He is Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler, commander of the 37th Division, made up of Ohio guardsmen.

Yes, We Are One Country, One Nation

An American citizen is free to go from one state to another, seeking to better himself.

"Of course," you say.

But that right has only now been clarified and broadened by the unanimous decision of the United States Supreme Court. In ruling unconstitutional the California "anti-Okie" law, the court has by implication ruled invalid similar laws in 27 other states, all aimed at preventing entrance into those states of people without property.

Specifically, Fred F. Edwards took his jobless brother-in-law from Texas into California, where after living with Edwards for 10 days, the brother-in-law received assistance from the Farm Security Administration. That made Edwards a violator of the California law against helping indigents to enter California; he was convicted and he appealed.

Such a law violates the Constitution, the court now unanimously holds. But the court was not unanimous on the reasons. Justice Byrnes, delivering the opinion (his first), decided that such a law exceeded the proper "police power" of the state, and further, that it was an unconstitutional barrier to interstate commerce. Thus the court's majority hitched still another trailer to that venerable wagon, the commerce clause, with its provision that "Congress shall have power to regulate commerce with foreign nations and among the several states and with the Indian tribes."

Justice Douglas, speaking also for Justices Black and Murphy, traversed loftier ground to the same conclusion, paying no attention to the commerce clause. They cited the Fourteenth Amendment, that "... no state shall make or enforce any laws which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens. . . ." Justice Douglas ringingly said that the "right of persons to move freely from state to state occupies a more protected position in our constitutional system than does the movement of cattle, fruit and steel. . . ." and "It would prevent a citizen because he was poor from seeking new horizons in other states. The result would be a substantial dilution of the rights of national citizenship."

Justice Jackson was equally vehement in a separate opinion: "... we should say now and in no uncertain terms that a man's mere property status, without more, cannot be used by a state to test, qualify, or limit his rights as a citizen of the United States."

With that general proposition it is hard to quarrel. Yet states which have had an influx of the disinherited, with a correspondingly heavy relief burden, will feel that some provision ought to be made to mitigate the burden.

We are one people, one nation. The right of the people to seek opportunity where it may be found is rightly secured.

Since the securing of this right is in the national interest, perhaps some way can be found for all the people to share the burdens which result from inevitable shifts of population.

Several changes of beats have been made in the Sedalia police force for the coming month. Among those whose time has been changed are Howard Wood, Pat Donahue, Will Boult, Charles Leftwich, Thomas Bailey, Robert Ramsey and James Newbill.

C. M. Briggs and John Wills, of the Missouri Pacific shops, and P. F. Tarwater, MKT postal clerk, have gone to Atoka, Indian Territory, where they will join a party of friends for a hunting and fishing trip into the interior.

Special excursions are being run to St. Louis by the Missouri Pacific and the Katy for Sedalians who plan to see the famous "Ben Hur," now playing on the stage of the Olympic theatre there. Thus far, the play has broken all records at the house for attendance, and the total receipts for three weeks are expected to reach $50,000.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"God the Only Cause and Creator" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday December 7, 1941.

Golden Text: Revelation 4:11. Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honour and power: for thou hast created all things, and for thy pleasure they are and were created.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "I know that, whatsoever God doeth, it shall be for ever: Nothing can be put to it, nor anything taken from it." (Eccl. 3:14 to second.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "God is individual, incorporeal. He is divine Principle, Love, the universal cause, the only creator, and there is no other self-existence. He fills all space, and it is impossible to conceive of such omnipresence and individuality except as infinite Spirit or Mind. Divine Mind is the only cause or Principle of existence" (pp. 331, 262).

Grim Background As Japan's Envoys Confer With Hull

British Dutch Chinese) encircle- ment."

At Hongkong the British mili- tary command took "precaution- ary dispositions" and placed the garrison "in an advanced state of readiness." War fears grew in the Philippines, where U. S. army and navy units were reported or- dered on the alert. More British naval forces were said to be en- route to the danger zone. Thai- land—one possible objective for the Japanese forces massed in French Indo-China—was resigned to becoming a battleground. British reinforcements were pouring into adjacent Burma. And a state of emergency was reported de- clared at Britain's great Singa- pore fortress.

The conference of the two Japa- nese diplomats with Secretary Hull was arranged after the presi- dent's special train had headed north and apparently did not figure in the president's decision to cut short his brief vacation in the deep south.

Just what development or ser- ies of developments influenced Mr. Roosevelt was a matter of conjecture, but the utterances of Premier Tojo apparently were an important factor.

Wide "Difference In Views"

TOKYO, Dec. 1.—(P)—Domei said today the Japanese Cabinet had decided to continue negotia- tions with the United States de- spite great differences in the viewpoints of the two govern- ments.

The news agency reported the decision after a special cabinet session at which foreign Minister Shigenori Tojo outlined the pro- gress of talks which have been under way in Washington.

Togo's statement, Domei said, made it clear that there is a "great difference in views be- tween Japan and America," but it added:

"However, Japan probably will redouble efforts to make the United States reconsider Pacific prob- lems by continuing negotiations, it is understood."

The ministers met for an hour and 15 minutes.

There was a general exchange of views among them after the foreign Minister's report, Domei said.

Only last night, Togo, speaking at a banquet marking the first anniversary of the Japanese-Manchukuo-Nanking alliance, declared that the Washington ne- gotiations had taken a most ser- ious turn.

The speech, his first reference to the negotiations since the re- cent special session of the Diet (parliament), was followed by press reports that the closing of Japanese consulates in the United States was imminent.

Togo, in his address, reiterated oft-repeated assertions that the United States failed to "under- stand the real situation in East Asia" where, he said, Japan is trying to construct a new order to contribute to world peace.

"Not only that," he said, "but she (the United States) has been showing a disposition to apply forcibly to the Asiatic countries such fanciful principles and rules as are not adapted to the actual situation in the world and thus obstruct the construction of a new order. This is extremely re- grettable."

His brother, Allen Chasnoff, who has been visiting relatives in San Francisco, Calif., was notified of his condition Sunday, and immediately started home. He will probably arrive some time Tuesday.

Charge Slaying Of Fourth Husband

MCPHERSON, Kas., Dec. 1.—

(P)—Mrs. Chester Ribeau, slight, dark haired 60-year-old house- wife, was held without bond for trial in the current term of dis- trict court on a first degree mur- der charge in the slaying of her 34-year-old fourth husband early today.

In a quick sequel to Ribeau's death, his wife was arraigned, waived preliminary hearing and faced the prospect of trial within a week or ten days, Kenneth Hodge, county attorney of McPherson county, said.

Mrs. Ribeau broke into sobs as Hodge read the murder charge, filed a few hours after she ap- peared before dawn at the county jail and told officers her husband had beat her most of the night.

Tension Mounts In Orient

By EDWARD E. BOMAR

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(P)—

As tension mounted in the Orient today, the United States was re- ported reliably to be cooperating with the British, and possibly Free French, in creating military bases on a 5,000-mile string of island stepping stones—between Hawaii and Australia—back door to the explosive south Pacific.

A hint of military activity on Britain's Christmas Island, an isolated pinpoint of land 1,000 miles south of Hawaii, came last week with a navy warning to unauthorized shipping to keep its distance.

A day's sail away, on the tiny Atoll of Palmyra, which is Amer- ican owned, the navy has virtu- ally completed extensive base facilities for its far-ranging patrol planes.

Reports from trustworthy sources likewise told of move- ments of workmen and materials through Honolulu to the British Fiji Islands, in the South Pacific within 1,800 miles of Australia.

An official of the Free French island colony of New Caledonia, which is nearer Australia, has an- nounced American lend lease aid was expected to safeguard that strategic outpost.

American Samoa is another island stepping stone to the South Pacific, and the navy was given funds some time ago to prepare air base facilities there. What has been accomplished thus far is a military secret.

Strung along the air and sea route between the United States and Australia and New Zealand, the line of islands possesses obvi- ous strategic importance in the light of trained relations with Japan.

They lie athwart one route be- tween Japan and South America, which Tokyo asserted last week could and would be kept open to Japanese commerce by Nippon's navy in the event of hostilities in the Pacific.

Independent reports suggested that American lend-lease and fig- ured in the military improvement of the South Pacific route but ad- ministration officials declined to confirm the use of these funds in the Pacific outside of China.

characterized speculation on the subject of the meeting as "purely hypothetical," they emphasized three points:

1. Recently there has been a vigorous press campaign, particu- larly in the occupied zone, in favor of increased collaboration between France and Germany.

2. The Libyan fighting has given renewed importance to the Mediterranean basin and placed new values on France's holdings in north Africa.

3. There is a growing French need for raw materials, particu- larly coal, in order to keep indus- try operating at a minimum— which is possible only through support of other countries belong- ing to the new European order because of the British blockade.

Battered German Troops Unable To Hold Back Reds

Blood Sacrifices Heavy

BERLIN, Dec. 1.—(P)—A Ger- man military spokesman today declared the city of Rostov was evacuated by the German troops because of the fighting with civilians with resulting "unneces- sary losses" and to take more favorable positions to meet the Russian assault.

He asserted the Germans in the Rostov area were faced by Russian forces greatly superior in number.

The spokesman declined to say how far the troops withdrew but emphatically denied reports that it was as far as Taganrog, 40 miles west of Rostov.

According to the German anal- ysis, there are three major operations at present under way, in the Moscow and Rostov areas and in northern Africa.

The spokesman expressed the opinion the Moscow operations are reaching their culmination faster and at present were promis- ing a decision sooner than in the other sectors.

A Russian attempt to break out of Leningrad with a tank sortie across the ice of the frozen Neva river was broken up and 30 tanks, including "six mammoth ones," were captured, the German high command announced.

The high command said the Russian "blood sacrifices" were heavy and a number of prisoners were captured.

Break Into Defenses

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 1.—(P)—

British forces which have driven westward beyond the hump of Libya are continuing their opera- tions, British headquarters said today, but it acknowledged that German infantry and tanks have broken into the defenses of Re- zekh.

In that main sector of the 14- day-old desert struggle, the com- munique said, one axis tank thrust from the west was repulsed south of Rezekh and British ar- mored units, turning on Italy's Ariete—"spearhead"—division "destroyed about half the remain- ing tanks of this formation which then fled northward pursued by British moped columns."

The British reported yesterday reaching the Mediterranean coast along the Gulf of Sirte, between Bengasi and Agadabia, more than 300 miles west from the Egyptian frontier and across the axis' one supply road from Tripoli.

On that and the report that imperial forces are hacking down German-Italian strength in well defined fighting areas, British observers confidently predicted final destruction of axis re- mainants in the Tobruk sector within three days.

There was no indication of the magnitude of success of the Ger- man penetration into British de- fenses around Rezekh.

Four Killed In An Explosion

OKMULGEE, Okla., Dec. 1.—

(P)—Four men lost their lives and 16 others were injured, two critically, today as an explosion set ablaze the gasoline department of the Phillips Petroleum Co., re- finery.

The threat of explosion in a huge accumulator tank was re- lieved as workers succeeded in reducing the pressure in the chamber from 600 to 75 pounds. Hundreds of residents in the area had been warned to leave their homes.

The tank ignited, firemen said, alleviating fears that it would ex- plore and scatter steel and fire over a wide area.

The dead: Jim Hawks, an oiler. Hypo Decobert C. J. Steighner Lewis Pope.

Two stills exploded to start the raging fire. Two others exploded in a short time.

Firemen reported they were almost helpless to battle the flaming tangle of steel and oil. They said cause of the blaze had not been immediately determined.

Decobert and Steighner were injured fatally as they and two other workmen attempted to re- scue Hawk.

Of the injured, John Rogers, George Taylor and Loup Pope, were in a critical condition, phy- sicians said.

Inquiries On Lobbying By House Group

Start Wednesday As Applied To Defense Contracts

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(P)—

Two House committees today projected investigations, to start Wednesday, into lobbying activi- ties in connection with defense contracts while Rep. Jones (R- Ohio) denounced on the House floor a publication which he ac- cused of soliciting advertising from arms suppliers on the false representation that it was con- nected with the Democratic party.

Chairman Bland (D-Va.) of the House Merchant Marine commit- tee announced that his group would investigate lobbying for Maritime Commission contracts. Chairman May (D-Ky.) of the military committee had previously announced a similar investigation in connection with army con- tracts.

Jones read to the House a let- ter soliciting advertising at $300 a page for a publication called "The Democratic National Press" whose technique, he said, would "make Al Capone blush with envy." The letterhead listed Jay Gladwin as managing editor with offices in a downtown Washing- ton building.

Waving an edition of the maga- zine, Jones said that when any firm gets a contract to supply the government. With defense goods. It receives a letter solicit- ing advertising which says that "Our editorial panel will afford an exposition of the most ad- vanced opinion entertained by our national leader."

"If the contractor doesn't re- spond to the letter," Jones con- tinued, "Mr. Gladwin's office calls long distance. He talks to the arsenal of democracy sup- plier with the familiar 'You bet- ter pay for protection' approach, still leaving the inference of the capital 'D' in his Democratic Na- tional press."

Jones added that Gladwin "be- lately said he has no connection with the Democratic party ma- chine. But he must be given credit for his daring to use the 'Democratic' name with a capital 'D'."

"You may say you know he isn't connected with the party," he concluded, "but the point is—how much money can Gladwin suck from the arsenal contractors without their knowing he isn't the party's publicity man?"

Gladwin, when asked about Jones' charges, said that his pub- lication "attempts to mirror Demo- cratic opinion throughout the country" but makes no claim to be affiliated with the Democratic party.

Deny Charges From Bennett

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(P)—

The War Department and Chair- man Cannon (D-Mo.) of the House Appropriations committee have denied recent charges of Rep. Bennett (R-Mo.) that large purchases for the army meant either waste and extravagance or plans for an AEF of 10,000,000 men.

Cannon placed in the congress- ional record a letter from Maj. Gen. E. B. Gregory, quar- termaster general, declaring Bennett had made serious accusations without adequate evidence and that they were untrue. He re- ferred particularly to a statement that it would "appear swivel chair generals are incompetent too, if not downright dishonest."

If an investigation shows no graft and dishonesty, Bennett should make a retraction, the general said.

Neither estimates nor procure- ments have been based upon pro- viding for a force of 10,000,000," he wrote.

"Critical items" which require a long time to obtain, have been based on needs of 3,200,000 men and "essential items" on the basis of 2,000,000, he asserted.

"I would be remiss in my duty as quartermaster general if I did not provide not only the cloth- ing necessary to equip our pres- ent army but a reasonable re- serve to meet a possible future need," he said. "I do not con- sider that any overprocurements have been made."

Search For Body Of Missing Man

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Dec. 1.—

(P)—Highway patrolmen and county officers from Springfield and Wayneville this afternoon were organizing parties to search the area along Highway 66 for the body of Ernest Newman, 27, filling station operator of Wash- ington, Mo., who has been miss- ing since Wednesday night.

Troopers here were convinced that Newman has been murdered, they said. His 1932 Ford cou- ver, in which he left his home Wed- nesday for a trip to Cassville, where his mother, Mrs. Roy New- man, is seriously ill, was found yesterday in a wooded section about 8 miles west of Wayneville.

The patrol's first check, when Newman did not appear at Cas- sville or at his home, revealed that he had stopped at a filling sta- tion three miles east of strafford early Thursday morning and had bought 12 gallons of gasoline. The station operator said there was a soldier with Newman at that time.

The station operator was taken to Webb City this afternoon in an attempt to identify a soldier there as the one who had been with Newman. He told patrol- men, however, that he could not identify the Webb City man.

PENETRO NOSE DROPS

NOT FOR DIM-WITS

This newspaper is not printed for a bunch of sheep to read. Like all American newspapers, it is published for people like yourself who are smart enough to vote, to govern themselves, to manage their own personal affairs.

In this newspaper you will find a great many FACTS. You will like some facts, dislike others.

Also, you will find many conflicting OPINIONS printed here. Hitler's opinions—and Roosevelt's. Pro-war and anti-war opinions. The opinions of murderers and of mothers. And the opinion of the paper's own editors. If you weren't free to accept or reject OPINIONS you wouldn't be free at all.

The story of a fire is fact and opinion as a reporter saw it. Sermons are facts and opinions in favor of religion; advertisements are facts and opinions in favor of some product or service. Pictures of Yellowstone are facts and opinions in favor of vacations and travel.

Your job, as an intelligent citizen, is to recognize the facts, weigh the opinions, take the good and pass the bad by.

Here is a simple illustration of FACT and OPINION. It may help you to tell them apart in your newspaper, which must, of course, give you BOTH.

THIS IS A CAT. Cats are a FACT. The paper didn't just imagine them—they EXIST.

"The cat ate the canary," said the detective when he saw the feathers on the cat's nose and the bird was missing.

"Down with cats," said the Cat Haters Society when it heard the news.

Such reports would be OPINIONS if they appeared in the paper. Don't be too quick to accept every opinion that comes along. There are nearly always opinions ON THE OTHER SIDE, usually appearing in the same paper.

What newspapers are for:

American newspapers lay facts before you. Then their editors and many other people give you OPINIONS of ALL kinds. The rest is up to you.

We WOULD be a nation of dim-wits if America had to have some overseer to decide WHAT facts and WHAT opinions its newspapers might print. Every citizen in America is given the right—and the duty, too—to make up his own mind from all the FACTS and the OPINIONS that are within his easy reach.

In Germany, Italy, Russia, Japan, a government agency decides what the people shall read and hear. Not so in America. Do your part to preserve the American way of life.

Read, each Tuesday in this space, the messages about your liberty and how America's newspapers help you defend it. Your letters of comment will be appreciated by the editor and by this committee—Newspaper Publishers Committee, 420 Lexington Avenue, New York City.

THE STORY: It is obvious that spoiled, temperamental Diana and her new sister-in-law, Diana, aren't going to get along. They clash at first meeting when famous writer and commentator Stephen Curt takes his bride home. No true marriage, theirs. The woman Stephen loves is married to another man; Diana is his bride for six months and $10,000, just to save for him the $2,000,000 inheritance he would have lost had he married before he was 35. Other characters in the story are Stephen Thorpe, the lawyer who fired Diana after she had resisted his advances; Stephen's stepmother, Ellen, who likes the girl for her frankness; Phil Bruce, Stephen's best friend, who is obviously attracted to Diana; Bill Jackson, Diana's childhood sweetheart. Diana's father consents to the marriage only because he admires Stephen so much. Stephen's wedding gift is a beautiful diamond bracelet, her introduction to the luxury that will accompany being Mrs. Stephen Curt. But will Diana be willing to give up the new life in six months?

THORPES COME TO DINNER

CHAPTER X

MRS. STEPHEN CURT stood before the triple mirrors in her room and surveyed her several lovely selves therein reflected. Her dinner gown of simple black chiffon had cost more than, as Diana Tucker, she had earned in a month. The diamond bracelet clasp on her wrist, Stephen's gift on their wedding day, was worth a small fortune.

And Diana was happy. Resolutely she told herself that. In spite of the fact that her marriage was strictly a business affair. In spite of Stephen's sister, Adela, who did her best to humiliate Diana and make her uncomfortable whenever she could. And in spite of the fact that tonight, among other guests assembled for dinner below, would be Richard Thorpe.

Diana was at a loss to understand why the thought of Richard Thorpe's coming to the house should cause her such distress. Aside from the fact that she had never liked her former employer and that she had left his presence the last time after telling him to "go to the devil," she knew she had no earthly reason now for this dread of seeing him again.

It was Adela who had invited the Thorpes and when she had told Diana that they had accepted the invitation, it was with a malicious amusement which Diana was quick to see and understand.

During the weeks that had elapsed since the snowy evening when Stephen Curt had asked her to become his wife, events had passed in such rapid succession that Diana was left breathless. But with Frieda's help, she had selected the right clothes, presided over the household affairs with simple dignity and more than once wondered if she'd really ever known any other life than this. Diana's relatives, completely overawed by her good fortune, had come down for dinner one evening and Stephen had exerted himself to be especially charming. There was no doubt that he was genuinely fond of her father, who could discuss with ease many of the subjects on which Stephen was considered an authority. Stephen was kind to the two boys, too. Herman had come up especially from the State University for the occasion.

MRS. STEPHEN CURT was launched into a new and very exciting life, made all the more glamorous because she knew it was not to last. She was intensely interested in Stephen's writing and was delighted when on occasion he asked her to help him prepare copy. Now she was no longer nervous in taking dictation because Stephen was so patient and kind. Consequently she turned out manuscript that was a joy to behold and which Stephen, himself a hunt-and-peck typist, sent to his publishers with pride. Even Miss Todd, Stephen's regular secretary, complimented her work.

Diana had been drawn to Elva Todd at their first meeting and subsequently they had become friends. Diana was sure that Elva was in love with Stephen, and also that he was completely unaware of the fact.

All in all, it was a pleasant, orderly, abundant life—except for Adela. From the first, Stephen's sister had resented Diana's presence in the house; had resented the ease with which "that stenographer" as she called Diana, had fitted into the life of the Curtis.

"Suppose he should really grow to care for that scheming adventuress and not let her go when the time comes," her thoughts would run in abject terror, when on occasion she saw Stephen's eyes following Diana. "Then they wouldn't want me around—they'd want to get rid of me! Stephen wouldn't—but she'd make him! She'd poison his mind against me. And where would I go? Where would I go? None of this would have happened if it weren't for that hideous old Ellen. She influenced my father to make such a ghastly will. How I hate that woman!"

Now, putting the finishing touches to her make-up, Diana was pleased with her reflected image. Her hair lay in smooth shining waves of red gold; her skin glowed from exquisite care and attention; and the warm white of her beautiful neck and shoulders rose from the folds of black chiffon where white garlands lent fragrance and beauty.

She answered a low knock at the door to find Stephen, handsome in dinner clothes, waiting for her. It was a little attention for which she was always grateful—this privilege of going down into the unknown world below at his side and not alone.

He smiled at the picture she presented. "I suppose it's useless to tell you how lovely you look, since you've no doubt been standing before the mirror for the last half hour," he teased.

Diana laughed, remembering how from the first moment he had seemed to be able to look through her and read her thoughts. She retorted, "Since you know so much about me, perhaps you know why I chose a black frock tonight."

"Because you know black sets off your fair beauty," he hazarded gallantly.

She shook her head. "No. Because I read in a book that a well-cut black frock always gives a woman—quote—complete assurance of sophistication—unquote. And heavens knows, I need assurance tonight."

"Why tonight, especially?"

"Because a certain person for whom I once worked—and once told to go to the devil—is to be a guest tonight."

He raised his dark brows in surprise. "You don't mean you're letting the thought of Richard Thorpe get you down?"

She longed to say, "Your sister knows I once worked for him. I feel they have discussed me together. She invited him here to annoy me."

But she only answered with mock seriousness, "I never know what to say to people I've insulted the next time I meet them."

Stephen laughed. "From my observation of the affair, I'd say you came off decidedly the victor in your last encounter with Thorpe. And I believe you can do it again. Just say, 'Why, hello—how nice to see you again! That's the perfect formula for all occasions, isn't it? And before the evening is over you'll probably be calling each other 'darling!'"

Diana shook her head. "Somehow, I don't believe it will go that far," she answered wryly. "But thanks for the recipe anyway. I'll try it out in my testing laboratory. And now—shall we go down?"

Stories in Stamps

Defensive "Death Ray" Would Abolish War

A "DEATH RAY" so powerful that it is beyond the most vivid imagination of writers of fantastic stories—and unencompassed in the knowledge of most scientists—was announced by the famed Yugoslav inventor Nikola Tesla on his 76th birthday, eight years ago.

The beam never got past the experimental and formulative stages. It was invented solely for defensive purposes, Tesla said, and according to the designer, would have been able to annihilate a million men or destroy 10,000 airplanes at the flick of a switch.

Tesla was honored philatelically on his 80th birthday by a set of four stamps issued in 1936 by his native Yugoslavia.

Tesla holds more than 700 basic patents in all phases of electrical engineering and improvements and it was this fact that suppressed smiles on the faces of the know-it-alls who listened to the octogenarian bachelor announce his futuristic inventions.

Another invention announced by Tesla includes a method for interplanetary communication. He visualizes such things as daily newspapers printed in each home by wireless.
